Sustainability 101

August 19, 2021 / 1 p.m. EDT

This presentation will provide an overall look at green building standards and certifications. We will also examine the various attributes of each of the standards and certifications – looking at the similarities, but also how they differ, to make an educated product selection.

Topics discussed will include:

- An overview of green building standards and certifications, and how MAPEI products contribute.
- An overview of green product certifications and attributes, and how MAPEI products contribute.
- How to select products for green building standards and certification programs.

About the presenter

Brittany Storm

Brittany is the Sustainability Manager for MAPEI Corporation. Her background as a sustainable building consultant and background in construction allow her to speak to audiences about both the big picture and technical aspects of a project. Brittany is a LEED Accredited Professional (AP) with BD+C and ID+C specialties as well as a WELL AP and Fitwel Ambassador. In addition, she is active on many sustainability committees.
